

Welcome from the Provost and Vice President

Welcome!

You are embarking on a journey packed with challenges and opportunities. At CSU Channel Islands (CI), you will be informed, guided and inspired by an outstanding faculty and staff. We are here to listen, learn and determine how our efforts can better serve your academic interests.

I invite you to look at the enclosed spring 2012 schedule. CI students receive a solid education through our core curriculum while the major fields of study prepare them for careers or further study at the graduate and professional levels.

The principle of placing students at the center of the educational experience shapes our work and impacts instruction, services, resources and activities. We continue to revitalize and grow our academic and co-curricular programs and improve the physical facilities in which they take place. Our newest structure, North Hall, which is set to open in the fall of 2012, will be a state of the art facility for use by students, faculty and staff.

Engage, work hard, and enjoy the experience as you achieve your personal and educational goals.

A handwritten signature in cursive script that reads "Dawn Neuman".

Dawn S. Neuman
Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs