Brief Activity Description	The goal of the History Community Seminar is to invite CI students and history practitioners in the community (K-14 educators, museum professionals, etc) in our service area to enjoy a lecture by an expert in a field of history. Often these talks are geared to be useful for K-14 teachers to use in their own classes, and to inspire students thinking of embarking on a career in teaching. Past speakers have ranged from UC Irvine Professor Patricia Seed talking about maps in history, to film maker John Valadez showing and discussing his PBS documentary on Joaquin Murietta, to UC Riverside historian Steve Hackel discussing the history and memory of Father Serra. The History Program wishes to continue inviting renowned scholars outside of our campus so that local educators and students can benefit from a cutting edge perspective on local or global history.
Learning Outcomes and Relation to IRA to Course Offerings	The speakers we bring tend to offer broad topics of interest to a variety of courses, although the particular subject necessarily affects which courses are most closely related. All of the following courses are offered each semester: U.S. History (Hist 270 and 271) World History (Hist 211 and 212) California History (Hist 369) These cover World, U.S., and California topics. In addition, more specialized upper division courses invariably connect to the speaker.
Description of Assessment Process	Students (and community members) attending the talks as part of their course will be asked to fill out a survey evaluating the presentation.
