Brief Activity Description	Scottie Madden recently wrote a memoir titled, "Getting back to me: from girl to boy to woman in just 50 years." The book is a real-time account of Scottie's coming out, taken from her journal entries as she transitions. Scottie, a top show-runner for extreme adventure/reality television shows, tells her moving story of transitioning in her personal and professional life. Scottie and her wife, Marcy, will attend a session of my course, Clinical and Abnormal Psychology to discuss their story and answer questions from our students. Students will also learn about the diagnostic criteria for gender dysphoria disorder, and whether this "disorder" should or should not be part of the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual in 2016. This experience will build on the learning outcomes for the course, which typically consists of 120 students. This opportunity will also provide students with real-life exposure to the struggles and sensitivities of a transgender woman.
Learning Outcomes and Relation to IRA to Course Offerings	Psychology 313, Clinical and Abnormal Psychology The guest lecturer will discuss her experience as a transgender woman. This lecture will be consistent with the goals of the class, where students learn the value of sensitivity and their own personal bias. The guest lecturers, Scottie and her wife of more than 25 years, Marcy, will briefly speak to the students on March 2, 2016 and then open up the conversation with questions and answers.
Description of Assessment Process	Students will be asked to provide feedback about the guest lecture.
