

2014 CIS Research Collaboration Retreat
CALL FOR PARTICIPANTS
Research Theme: CLIMATE

Application due: Sunday, April 27, 2014, 11:59 pm

What: A 1-day retreat, 8 am – 5 pm on Friday May 16, where faculty and staff will develop and explore interdisciplinary group collaborations around Climate, the CIS theme for AY 2014-15.

Where: CI Boating Center

Who: CI faculty, staff, and administration members interested in developing an interdisciplinary project to explore a facet of Climate through research, performance, public display, or interactive activity

How: Funded through generous donations to CI Foundation (we will provide breakfast and lunch)

More information: In 2013, CIS introduced annual interdisciplinary themes to generate campus-wide interdisciplinary collaborations. The theme for AY 2014-15 is Climate. We hope to see broad perspectives on the theme threaded through campus life: in research; exhibitions; library, dorm or other displays; campus conversations; anything else you can think of. Our plan will work only if YOU are involved. This retreat is meant to provide intellectual space for you to develop your own thinking about “climate” and to connect those ideas with others’. Contact CIS Director Kathryn Leonard, kathryn.leonard@csuci.edu, with any questions you may have.

Application

(email to kathryn.leonard@csuci.edu no later than midnight, April 27, 2014)

If you have already identified a collaborative team you would like to work with during the retreat, please indicate teammates in Question 3 below.
