Program Title: Global Histories and Their Futures (Lecture Series)

Sponsoring Department: History

Requesting Faculty: Rainer Buschmann

Date of Submission: March 29, 2011

Amount Requested: $ 1200

Estimated Number of Students Participating: 120 (involved in internship and as lecture participants)

Please provide the following in your application:

1. Brief Program Description. Describe the program and its relationship to the educational objectives of the students' program or major.

The funding contribute to the continuation of a lecture series entitled "Global Histories and Their Futures" designed to bring a number of prominent world historians residing in southern California to CSUCI. The requested funding will cover two lectures (Fall 2011 and Spring 2012). These scholars will give public lectures about relevant issues and themes pertinent to the field of world history. Each speaker will be associated with one of our history students whose task will be to provide an intellectual biography of the speaker and to introduce him/her to the audience. This student introducing the speaker will earn college credit by way of an internship (or service learning). Similarly, the speakers will introduce history majors and other interested students and members of the community to ongoing research in the field of world history. The lectures will also contribute to a greater awareness of CSUCI among established campuses in the California region. This networking process will play a crucial role in future student placement in graduate and credentialing programs around the state.

We have already had several successful lectures in the series:

Kenneth Curtis, a leading world historian at Cal State Long Beach, who lectured in November of 2004 (with about 75 student, staff, faculty, and community members in attendance)

Paul Spickard, a prominent world historian at the University of California, Santa Barbara, 2005

David Christian, San Diego State University 2006.

Ned Alpers, UCLA, 2006

John Gillis, Rutgers University and UC Berkeley 2008

The two scholars for the 2011-2012 lecture series are:

David Igler, Associated Professor at UC Irvine, an expert on the American West and the Pacific Ocean.

Karen Wigen, Associate Professor of History at Stanford, an expert on the geography of Japan. Her talk will gain additional salience due to the current Tsunami catastrophe in the Japanese Islands.

Student outcomes associated with these lectures are:

Students should have a fuller understanding of the complexity of cultural diversity

Communication Skills: Students should understand themselves and others in a cultural context and develop interpersonal skills for diversity over the lifespan

Personal Development: Students should understand themselves and others in a cultural context and develop interpersonal skills for diversity over the lifespan

The guest speakers will also help realize the following outcomes related to our Mission Statement:

Identify and Describe the Modern World and Issues from Multiple Perspectives

2. Relation to IRA Program to Course Offerings. All IRA programs must be integrally related to the formal instructional offerings of the University and must be associated with scheduled credit courses. Please list all classes that related to the program proposed.

History 211 (World Civilizations to 1500); History 212 (World Civilizations since 1500), History 365 (Themes of World History); History 492 (Internship and Service Learning).

Program Assessment. Describe the assessment process and measures that the program will use to determine if it has attained its educational goals.

The lectures will be part of the courses outlined above and will provide for in-class discussion. Students attending the lectures will be asked to write a brief reflection paper on what they have heard. The students involved in the internship/service learning part of the program will be graded based on their research and performance.

3. Program Budget. Please enclose a budget of the operating cost of the program.

$ 800 for speakers' honorarium (2x $ 400)

$ 400 for speakers' travel expenses (2X $ 200)

4. Sources of Program Support. Please list the other sources of funding, and additional support for the program.
