Brief Activity Description	The faculty steering committee of the Mnor in Global Premodern Studies (GPS) requests funding for an interdisciplinary speaker series to take place across the 2016–17 academic year. We have invited five speakers representing interdisciplinary approaches to issues within the premodern world to address the CI community in classroom and/or public lectures. As possible, we would hold an informal reception after each talk to encourage interested students to engage further with speakers, faculty, and each other.
	Speakers, topics, and fields of study: Dr. Mark Allen, Professor of Anthropology, Cal Poly Pomona. Warfare in Pre-State Societies. Anthropology, History. 	This speaker series will aid our students by exposing them to different modes of interdisciplinary inquiry in the humanities and social sciences. While the focus is on the premodern world (including its intersection with modern societies), the skills of inquiry and analysis being modelled in these presentations are broadly applicable. Students will also have the opportunity to meet and network with scholars from a range of disciplines and institutions, including international scholars, and to hear about topics addressing divergent areas of the world. The series thus addresses two of CI's Mssion Pillars, Interdisciplinary Perspectives and International Perspectives.
	This speaker series will additionally aid students in attaining the following program outcomes: GPS Mnor: (1) Interpret issues from the world prior to 1500 from multiple disciplinary perspectives; (2) critique scholarly methods from multiple disciplinary perspectives; (3) apply integrative tools to the analysis of issues from the world prior to 1500; (4) analyze and critique the role played by the world prior to 1500 in contemporary cultures. Anthropology: (1) Demonstrate a knowledge of human diversity and cultural interactions; (2) apply anthropological perspectives in a range of settings: (3) demonstrate knowledge within cultural anthropology. Art: (1) Analyze and interpret works of art; (2) understand the role of art in human society. History: (1) Demonstrate understanding of global history; (2) analyze contemporary and historical events
