2. Brief Activity Description

Describe the activity and its relationships to the educational objectives of the students' program or major

Brief Activity Description

The purpose of the Campus Reading Celebration is to provide an annual opportunity for the entire campus community to share in a common intellectual experience. The Campus Reading Celebration Task Force is made up of representatives from across the university. All members of the campus community (students, faculty, staff, and administration) will have the opportunity to:

- Read the same Campus Reading Celebration book that will focus on one or more of the CSUCI Pillars (Interdisciplinarity, International Perspectives, Multicultural Perspectives, and Service Learning and Civic Engagement).
- Discuss the Campus Reading Celebration book with each other in both formal and informal settings.
- Interact with the author of the Campus Reading Celebration book to aid in the demystification of books and/or authors
- Engage in open dialogue relating to multicultural perspectives, international perspectives, interdisciplinarity and/or service learning and civic engagement.
- Experience a CSUCI program that combines co-curricular and curricular activities.
- Have an all campus experience, the entire community engaging in one activity.

3. Learning Outcomes and Relation of IRA to Course Offerings

All IRAs must be integrally related to the formal instructional offerings of the University and must be associated with scheduled credit courses.

1. Please list all classes that directly relate to the proposed activity.
2. For each class listed, describe in detail how exactly the IRA activity will be integrated with the class's activities, how often/ on what expected date(s), and to what extent

Learning Outcomes and Relation of IRA to Course Offerings

Because this is an annual campus-wide event for all CI students, all campus classes potentially relate to the proposed activity. Many students at CSUCI have never before attended an event in which they've had the opportunity to encounter the author of a book they have read. The Campus Reading Celebration attempts to give them not only a chance to hear the author read from their work and talk about that work, including how/when he came to write it, but also a substantial opportunity to interact with that author. By providing students an opportunity to see that books are not dead artifacts but vibrant entities with which they can interact through reading, thinking, discussing with peers, professors, and their families and friends (all of whom are invited), we seek to empower them to become engaged readers who incorporate books into their critical thinking. Encountering the author of a book they have read, particularly a famous and/or prestigious author such as several we have had -- Jered Diamond, Pulitzer Prize winner Junot Diaz, Muhamad Yunnis, Terry Tempest Williams, for example - is the culmination of that experience.

4. Activity Assessment

Describe the assessment process and measures that the program will use to determine if it has attained its educational goals.

Please note that a report will be due at the end of the semester.

Description of Assessment Process

The CRC is an annual event at CI and is an important part of our culture and curriculum. The book, which is nominated by and chosen by the entire campus community, is used throughout the campus in different disciplines, and often lives on in our collections, pedagogy, and collective memory. For example, during fall semester, 2015, 1,500 books were distributed to the university population. That October, following a lecture, multidisciplinary panel, and classroom visits, 500 people attended the Campus Reading Celebration to hear author Karen JoyFowler's keynote address. The Campus Reading Celebration Task Force will report statistics associated with that event, particularly attendance and the number of classes that use the book as part of the syllabus. The Task Force will also circulate, collect, and report the results of a survey given to all attendees. We believe the survey will be beneficial in assisting with the choice of a CRC book and the author going forward.

▼ 8. Promoting Participation

What is your intended audience and how do you intend to market this to your students?

Since its inception, the CRC has been an important and well attended event at CI. To this end the Task Force creates news releases, posts large posters across campus, and invites student and faculty participation by distributing free copies of the book each year. Faculty often employ the text in their classrooms and encourage student participation, often by awarding credit for attendance.

Additionally, the Task Force annually sponsors some sort of support programming that further heightens interest. Charles Fishman, author of The Big Thirst, took students to the Oxnard Water Treatment facility. Luis Urrea met with a group of students and artist Juna Muller to examine a quilt made of garments discarded during border crossings. The event is truly interdisciplinary and invites investigation from multiple perspectives.

If this is an event that is off campus, how do you plan to bring back the benefit of this event to campus?

▼ 9. Sustainability

If appropriate, indicate how the content or delivery of the project promotes sustainability at CI.
