2. Brief Activity Description

Describe the activity and its relationships to the educational objectives of the students' program or major

Brief Activity Description

We seek support to bring three invited speakers to campus during the fall of 2018 and the spring of 2019 for ESRM 335: The Beach, an interdisciplinary course that explores the sociocultural importance of sandy beaches in southern California, examines anthropogenic stressors on the sandy beach ecosystem, and explores the interaction of natural and human systems. This course will introduce students to the physical and biological aspects of California's beach ecosystem and provide many different perspectives on California's beach culture and society. Given the breadth of topics addressed in the course, including dance, music, art, ecology, geology, oceanography, chemistry, policy, business, surfing, skateboarding, coastal development, pollution, etc, students would benefit greatly from the additional expertise provided by external specialists with particular knowledge of the environmental and socio-cultural characteristics of the region.

3. Learning Outcomes and Relation of IRA to Course Offerings

All IRAs must be integrally related to the formal instructional offerings of the University and must be associated with scheduled credit courses.

1. Please list all classes that directly relate to the proposed activity.
2. For each class listed, describe in detail how exactly the IRA activity will be integrated with the class's activities, how often/ on what expected date(s), and to what extent

1. ESRM 335 The Beach
2. Invited speakers during the fall and spring semesters of 2018-2019 will address a number of topics and concerns regarding California's sandy beach ecosystem. Each of these speakers will reinforce general program learning outcomes:
Understanding the historical context of the unique cultural development of the southern California coastal region.
Articulating the interdisciplinary nature of environmental issues on an increasingly urban coastline.
Each speaker will contribute to the over context of the Beach course with interdisciplinary, international, and/or multicultural components of this GE course.

4. Activity Assessment

Describe the assessment process and measures that the program will use to determine if it has attained its educational goals.
Please note that a report will be due at the end of the semester.

Description of Assessment Process

Students will critically think about sandy beach ecosystems and current environmental issues in the coastal zone through blogging and prepare, revise, and submit a research paper on an international beach within the context of regular course instruction and information provided by guest speakers. A supplemental course evaluation will be given at the end of each semester to allow students to give feedback on the speakers.

5. Activity Budget

Please enclose a complete detailed budget of the entire activity. Indicate specific items that you are requesting IRA to fund.

You should use either the Regular Activity budget (for events on campus) or -- if your event involves any travel-- you MUST use the IRA Travel Budget Form.

You can download both of the IRA Excel Budget sheets at http://www.csuci.edu/ira/application.htm.

8. Promoting Participation

What is your intended audience and how do you intend to market this to your students?

The intended audience for these guest speakers is students currently enrolled in ESRM 335; however, we will print flyers for each speaker and advertise on CI's social media networks, as many of the speakers may be of interest to the greater campus community. ESRM 335 is an interdisciplinary course, aimed at attracting a broad range of students from across multiple disciplines. Although these visiting speakers are expected to provide an invaluable benefit to students in this class through the provision, context, and additional expertise pertaining to environmental and sociocultural issues in southern California, we anticipate there will be an interest in these events to the campus community.

If this is an event that is off campus, how do you plan to bring back the benefit of this event to campus?
