2. Brief Activity Description

Describe the activity and its relationships to the educational objectives of the students' program or major

Brief Activity Description

We seek support to bring six seminar speakers to campus for our interdisciplinary speaker series. Our spring seminar has grown increasingly popular and now routinely draws at least 20-40 students per speaker and 10-20 faculty and community members. While ESRM and Biology are the most common attendees, the audience comes from across campus and local community. We are seeing increasing interest in other disciplines for these seminars (English, Communications, Political Science, History, etc.). If this proposal is successful, 2018 would be the 10th year of the seminar series.

3. Learning Outcomes and Relation of IRA to Course Offerings

All IRAs must be integrally related to the formal instructional offerings of the University and must be associated with scheduled credit courses.

1. Please list all classes that directly relate to the proposed activity.
2. For each class listed, describe in detail how exactly the IRA activity will be integrated with the class's activities, how often/ on what expected date(s), and to what extent

Learning Outcomes and Relation of IRA to Course Offerings

Students enroll through ESRM 496. Speakers will touch on a number of topics and concerns regarding contemporary environmental management challenges and citizen engagement with them, all of which reinforce course-specific as well as general program learning outcomes:
- Understanding the resource management issues of the day,
- Articulating the interdisciplinary nature of modern environmental challenges, and
- Proposing novel solutions to existing resource challenges.

4. Activity Assessment

Describe the assessment process and measures that the program will use to determine if it has attained its educational goals.
Please note that a report will be due at the end of the semester.

Description of Assessment Process

No direct assessment of all speakers will be made. Rather,we will continue with anecdotal assessments and feedback from attending students. All seminars are podcasted on the ESRM website for additional exposure to the broader community and for use in classes where seminar content supplements course curricula.

5. Activity Budget

8. Promoting Participation

What is your intended audience and how do you intend to market this to your students?

Any CI undergraduate is welcome to participate, but our primary audience are students currently enrolled in ESRM courses, specifically ESRM 496. Other ESRM courses whose students will be encouraged to participate include: ESRM 100 (Intro to Env Science), ESRM 200 (Intro to Resource Management), ESRM 313 (Conservation Biology), ESRM 328 (Intro toGIS), ESRM 329 Environmental Law & Policy, and ESRM 351 (Restoration Ecology Theory).

If this is an event that is off campus, how do you plan to bring back the benefit of this event to campus?

▼ 9. Sustainability

If appropriate, indicate how the content or delivery of the project promotes sustainability at CI.

Sustainability

While the exact lineup of speakers is not finalized for the spring, the topic of Citizenship on Earth speaks directly to sustainability and the need to live more sustainably on our planet. Many of our past speakers have directly addressed CI sustainability issues in previous semesters as they relate to local solutions to address environmental challenges. Often these examples relate to food, the built environment (e.g., lighting options and energy efficiency), and green accounting/certifications (e.g., USGBC LEED certification); this spring speakers will focus on different avenues of civic and career engagement with environmental issues that are available to today's college graduates.

Although this proposer was not involved in the prior year of this funded effort, a report on that year's activity would be helpful in supporting this worthwhile effort.
