UNDOCUMENTED
Student Resource Guide
2021 - 2022
Multicultural Dream Center
The Multicultural Dream Center (MDC) provides resources, services, and education to support the cultivation of an inclusive campus community. The MDC supports all students, with a particular focus on marginalized populations, through mentorship, intercultural programs, retreats, workshops, and trainings. These various initiatives are geared towards fostering identity development, critical thinking, reflection, and dialogue across difference to support student retention and academic success.

Mariposa's Achieving & Resisting (MAR)
MAR is a program for undocumented students at CI, to ensure your academic success. The program is focused on meeting with you individually to support your academic, personal, and post-graduation goals. We host workshops, socials and other events to support community building within the community. To participate in this program, contact Natalie Johnson (natalie.johnson@csuci.edu) to get involved.

Undocumented Student Resources
Additional resources on-campus, in the local community, and nationally. These resources are to offer students resources to build community and to expand their understanding of various marginalized populations.

Undocumented Student Ally Training
To support an inclusive environment at CSU Channel Islands the Multicultural Dream Center host trainings to ensure faculty, staff and student employees to support undocumented students. So if you see this key in an office, you know they have been through at least one training to support undocumented students.

Free Immigration Legal Services
Direct immigration legal services are available free of charge to CSU students, employees and immediate relatives (i.e. parents, children spouses, and siblings). Attorneys and paralegals are available to assist students with general consultations, DACA renewals and general assistance in filling out forms such as family-based petitions. This project aims to serve undocumented students, students with immigration questions, staff and faculty. Schedule a meeting with the immigration lawyer.

Diversity and Inclusion Student Council
The Diversity and Inclusion Student Council (DISC) is open to all students who are interested in opportunities to create and foster a more inclusive campus in partnership with the Multicultural Dream Center. Our mission is to empower students to build an inclusive campus environment that is safe and welcoming for all. Through this online group, you will build a community and actively make a difference. Email Kem French (kem.french@csuci.edu) to join.

Student Organization

We are a student organization which advocates, promotes and brings awareness to our campus regarding undocumented students and other immigrant issues.

League of United Latin American Citizens
As a Collegiate Council we will also focus on student leadership and student development as advocates in our professions, studies, and disciplines. LULAC belongs to a national organization committed to advocating for the Latino Population in the U.S. This organization also advocates and supports undocumented students through various programming efforts.
HIST 401 - Immigration, Race, and Citizenship in the United States
Examines the broad arc of immigration history in the United States from the colonial period to the present. The course traces the diverse experiences of immigrants from Africa, Asia, Europe, and the Americas. In addition to exploring the immigrant experience, the course analyzes the evolving relationship between immigration and constructions of race, ethnicity, and citizenship across time and place.

SOC 380 - Sociology of Immigration
Applies sociological theories, concepts, and methodologies to understand historic and contemporary immigration to United States and other parts of world. Explores how immigrant experience intersects with social structures and institutions.

CHS 425 - Immigration & the Latina/o Community
Cross disciplinary examination of the economic, political, and social causes of Latin American immigration, and its impact on the Latina/o community in the United States.

POLS 348 - Immigration Politics and Policy
Provides multi-disciplinary insight into various aspects of migration and immigration politics and policy. Students explore historical trends, myths, root causes, political movements, public opinion, and potential policy prescriptions. Approaches the issue of immigration from a variety of standpoints: legal, political, social, historical, and theoretical in order to analyze immigration policy and ways of thinking about migration and the nation-state.

CHS 331 - Transborder Theory & Writing
Focuses on the major theoretical concepts in transborder studies as they apply to Chicana/o studies in the areas of culture, identity, migration, gender and sexuality, and cultural production.

Immigrants Rising - List of Undergraduate Scholarships

Immigrant Rising’s List of Undergraduate Scholarships contains scholarships for undergraduate studies that don’t require proof of citizenship or legal permanent residency. This up-to-date list, organized by deadline date, contains scholarships at the local (Bay Area), state and national level.

SOS Immigrant Student Scholarship

The Students of Salaam (SOS) Immigrant Student Scholarship Fund launched in 2018 to support the academic and professional goals of immigrant students, regardless of citizenship status, through personalized mentorship and financial assistance. We care about who you are, and what your goals are — your application is reviewed holistically, and there are no GPA or test score cutoffs.

The Paul & Daisy Soros Fellowship for New Americans

The Paul and Daisy Soros Fellowships for New Americans are for up to two years graduate study in the professions and academic disciplines at any institution of higher learning in the United States. The prestigious Fellowships are funded by a trust established by Paul and Daisy Soros.

Davis-Putter Scholarship

Although not specifically for undocumented students, this award does not discriminate on the basis of national identity—quite the opposite. The Davis-Putter Scholarship goes to undergraduate and graduate students working for social or economic justice in their communities. In addition to transcripts, applicants submit a personal statement, letters of recommendation that attest to their progressivism, and financial information. Activism is the key criteria.

Golden-Door Scholarship

Any aspiring undergrad with DACA or TPS status can apply for this award, but the scholarship committee prioritizes students in states that bar DACA students from receiving in-state tuition benefits. Scholarships are distributed on the basis of academic merit and leadership abilities, and go toward attendance at one of 17 partner schools. To maintain funding, scholarship recipients must earn a 3.0 GPA.

GMiS Scholarship

The Hispanic Engineer National Achievement Awards Corporation (HENAAC) distributes multiple scholarships each year; some require U.S. citizenship but many do not. Applicants should be entering a STEM field at the undergraduate or graduate level, have a 3.0 GPA, have strong ties to the Hispanic community, and show leadership at the community or campus level.

Hispanic Scholarship Fund (HSF) Scholarship

DACA students of Hispanic heritage are eligible for HSF funds, whether they’re off to community college or grad school. Merit is the main factor in who receives funding, while financial need determines how much. High school graduates with a GPA of 3.0 or higher are considered; current college students need a 2.5 to be eligible.

Que Llueva Café Scholarship

Chicano Organizing & Research in Education (CORE) gives this award to undocumented high school graduates of Chicano and Latino descent who are getting ready to enroll in a U.S. college. Scholarships are granted based on the candidate’s personal narrative, extracurricular activities and academic potential.
La Unidad Latina Foundation Scholarship
The residency requirements for this award state only that applicants must reside in the U.S., leaving the door open to undocumented students who have completed at least one year of undergraduate study with a 2.8 GPA. Those who receive funding should have a demonstrable history of civic leadership in the Latino community, which should be supported in a reference letter. Graduate students are welcome to apply.

Society of Hispanic Professional Engineers (SHPE) Scholarships
Membership in SHPE is a prerequisite for earning any of the society’s scholarships, but citizenship or legal status is not required except for some corporate-funded awards. SHPE provides separate awards for graduating high school seniors, undergraduates, graduate students, working students and doctoral candidates. Each award requires students to hold a 2.75 GPA and be pursuing a degree in a STEM field. Scholarship decisions and funding amounts depend on academic merit and financial need.

TheDream.US National Scholarship
The National Scholarship helps students who are eligible for in-state tuition attend one of 75 colleges that partner with TheDream.Us. To receive the award — worth $12,500 toward an associate or $25,000 toward a bachelor’s degree — students must hold a high school or community college degree but not be currently enrolled in college; must demonstrate significant financial need; and must have applied for or received DACA status. (Scholarship applicants need only be eligible for DACA, but to actually receive the award they will need to seek DACA status.) Applicants submit two essays, household income statements, a reference and DACA documentation. Full-time students who earn a 3.0 can renew the award.

UNCF Scholarships
UNCF has helped more than 500,000 students earn their college degrees since its founding. UNCF is the nation’s largest private scholarship provider to minority group members.

Thurgood Marshall College Fund Open Scholarships
Established in 1987, the Thurgood Marshall College Fund (TMCF) is the nation’s largest organization exclusively representing the Black College Community. This website lists open scholarships for college students.

Sallie Mae and Thurgood Marshall College Fund
Starting in 2021, The Sallie Mae Fund, our charitable foundation, will launch scholarship programs to further promote diversity in higher education among minority students and other historically underserved communities.

Create Real Impact (ages 14-22)
The Create Real Impact project was created by Impact Teen Drivers to ask young people how to talk about reckless and distracted driving. Young people enter to win cash and prizes by showcasing graphic design, music, video and creative writing to address reckless and distracted driving and solve the problem.

PepsiCo Cesar Chavez Latino Scholarship
Hispanic students who are beginning or continuing their studies at higher educational institutions in Arizona and California’s Central Valley are invited to apply for the PepsiCo Cesar Chavez Latino Scholarship Fund.

Immigration - American Psychological Association
APA supports practical, humane immigration policies that consider the needs of immigrants, and particularly immigrant families, while also recognizing the need to balance these policies with national security and public safety.

Immigrant Child Health Toolkit
This section of the toolkit addresses mental health considerations for immigrant children and pediatric assessments for children who may need mental health services. Disruption to families, education and witnessing traumatic events compound developmental concerns. Assessment of mental health among children in immigrant and refugee families involves several key elements.

INCLUSIVE THERAPISTS
Inclusive Therapists offers a safer, simpler way to find a culturally responsive, social justice-oriented therapist. We are a mental health justice movement pursuing equity and liberation through education, collective care, and activism.

Informed Immigrant
There is a tremendous amount of uncertainty in today’s immigration enforcement environment. Not knowing what you can expect for your future, or the futures of your family and friends, is stressful. Even as you may be experiencing anxiety, you can simultaneously be connecting to community or family members in ways that produce resiliency and joy. It is important to recognize that joy and love can coexist with stress and anxiety, and all of these feelings are valid. The information below provides tips for managing the emotional and spiritual well-being of yourself and others.
Informed Immigrant - How to Support Undocumented Students' Mental Health

Educators, school counselors, and faculty remain the first line of support for students impacted by immigration. In these confusing and often frightening times, it's important to provide support for students who may not be equipped to process them. This is a resource for educators supporting undocumented students and students from mixed-status families who are experiencing trauma and anxiety. We hope using it will help alleviate some of these feelings of despair, hopelessness, or even just confusion.

Mental Health Resources for Black, Indigenous and People of Color (BIPOC)

In addition to COVID-19, recent events have brought heightened attention to the specific stressors faced by Black, Indigenous and People of Color (BIPOC) communities, who may be experiencing heightened fear, anger and grief at this time. Consistent with the Guide's mission to provide timely mental health resources, we highlight a range of resources that may be useful to BIPOC-identifying individuals seeking support for mental health concerns and/or coping with race-related stressors, whether current and/or historical, as well as those hoping to share available resources to their patients. Mass General Psychiatry is not affiliated with, nor does it directly endorse, any non-MGH organizations listed here. This list is intended only to share resources currently available in the broader community.

55 Mental Health Resources for People of Color

Mental illness does not discriminate: Nearly 20% of U.S. adults experience a mental illness each year, regardless of race or ethnicity. And while it's clear that mental health is a crosscutting issue that affects all communities, providing effective services for people of color requires acknowledging and understanding their different lived realities.

In this webpage, OnlineMSWPrograms.com collected resources that have been tailored to the mental health needs of various racial and ethnic groups.

HOPE: Center for Wellness

Hope Center for Wellness, LLC is a multicultural and bilingual mental health practice focused on holistic healing of individuals and communities, and strengthening the programmatic and clinical skills of organizations, schools, and government agencies.

Real Talk

Maya Cueva makes documentary films that cover the heavy topics: immigration, reproductive justice and xenophobia.

Immigration and Immigrant Rights

Asian Americans have been part of the American story since its earliest days. From those who traveled to the U.S. as a result of changing immigration policies, to refugees who came to American shores in search of safety, to recent immigrants who continue to join our nation in search of the famed "American Dream," the one indisputable truth about our community is its breadth, diversity, and resilience.

USCDornsife

ERI believes that we should center the voices of socially, economically, racially environmentally marginalized communities in our work. Collaboration with community partners expands our perspective, makes for better research and policy recommendations, and co-creates effective power-building strategies.

BLACK UNDOCUMENTED SPACES

An estimated 575,000 (16%) Black immigrants were living in the U.S. without authorization in 2013, according to the Pew Research Center study, making up 16% of all Black immigrants population.

ASPIRE

We are a community of undocumented Asians and Pacific Islanders who support each other through resource sharing, leadership development, and personal relationships. The First Pan-Asian Undocumented Youth Group in the USA.

The Immigrant Legal Resource Center

Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, and Transgender (LGBT) immigrants often face unique challenges due to their sexual orientation or gender identity. Some flee persecution in their home countries or have experienced discrimination and trauma in the United States. Others need assistance in changing their gender marker and official documents or navigating a family-based immigration case.
