★ October Staff Spotlights ★

Jon "JB" Brooks, Audio Visual Specialist

A word from his colleague:

"Have you ever wondered who that man with the long dreadlocks is that moseys on in to an event and sits by the tech equipment in the back of the room? Well – that is Jon Brooks, or J'b as he is affectionately known about campus! J'b is a busy man, that takes care of over 180 events per year. He makes sure the audio and video needs of the event are all set for the event coordinator. He is an incredible asset for the campus that has worked here since 2002! Not only does he help our campus in an extraordinary way, but he is also a musician and DJ who takes part in community events throughout the county and beyond! If you have never introduced yourself, be sure to stop by his spot at an event, or his van - when he is rolling around campus, to say hi, and thank him for the work that he does to make the events run smoothly."

Sergio Melano, Irrigation Specialist

"Sergio Melano has been employed by the campus since 2011. He began as a Groundsworker, worked as a Facilities Worker for a period of time, before returning to his Groundsworker position. In 2014, he shifted into the position of Irrigation Specialist. Sergio has served the campus well, in its water conservation efforts that brought us through the drought of 2015. You can often see him putting in extra time, during daylight savings time hours, on special projects to help the campus. If you happen to see him out and about on campus, working hard as always, be sure to take a moment to say thank you for all of his efforts."

The President's Advisory Council on Inclusive Excellence will be hosting the second round of Courageous Conversations About Campus Climate. Last spring, the inaugural Campus Climate survey results were released, and the Council is continuing to facilitate campus-wide discussions focusing on specific data points, found on pages 23-25 section 4.2, from the report found here. This past May, the Council facilitated a campus-wide discussion focusing on Sources of Stress for faculty and staff, with an emphasis on Experiences of Prejudice and/or Acts of Bias.

The President's Advisory Council is continuing these discussions throughout the Fall and Spring semesters, and the second and third rounds of our Courageous Conversations will focus on Perceptions of Respect Among Employees on Campus. All faculty and staff (non-MPP) are invited to participate in these conversations to create a more supportive campus climate.
